

Creative Classrooms

Divergent thinking

DIVERGENT THINKING

Teachers embrace new ways of thinking and learning. They are able to see links between unrelated ideas or concepts. They are keen to reassess their views and to adopt different perspectives.

Collaborative learning

- Teachers embrace and see the value in, a co-learning environment.

Teachers become learning designers when given space to collaborate, cultivate trust, and ensure that work is student relevant.

